March 10th, 2014

Essential Question: What is the structure of a tragedy?

Agenda: 1) Class Notes: The structure of a tragedy 2) Lion King 3) Sharing Sonnets (if time allows)

Homework: Take a break!

Class Notes: The structure of tragedy

Class Notes:

Exposition: Introduction of the characters, setting, etc.

Rising action:The rising action of a story is the series of events that begin immediately after the exposition (introduction) of the story and builds up to the climax.

Climax: The climax is the turning point, which changes the protagonist's fate.

Class Notes:

Falling action: During the falling action, the conflict between the protagonist and the antagonist unravels, with the protagonist winning or losing against the antagonist.

Denouement or Resolution: The resolution comprises events from the end of the falling action to the actual ending scene of the drama or narrative.

The LION KING

The Lion King is basically the story of Hamlet except everything that turns out nicely in the Lion King goes wrong in Hamlet.

Let's explore...

Class Notes: The Lion King

- While watching: In your notes, please write down the major plot points of the Lion King while we watch
- After watching: Organize the plot points based on the structure of tragedy!

Sharing

- Sharing poems!
  - On a volunteer basis
- The audience will volunteer positive feedback for each poet

Choose your own writing prompt

- Tell a story in which a character find this phone. What does he or she do with it?
- What other apps are on this phone
- What would you do with this phone if you had it for one day?
- How would the Harry Potter story be different if there was no magic except through the magical iPhonus?
- Which app would you keep if you only got to keep one? Which two would you keep?
- How would your life change with th in your pocket?
- How much would you sell the iPhonus for? How would you advertise it?
- What rules would a school have to make for students who had one of these?
- Make up your own question about the iPhonus and answer it.